Art Unit 1713

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over Satoh et al., U.S. Patent 5,726,237.

This patent shows rubber compositions which can be based upon tin modified styrene butadiene rubbers. See specifically columns 7 and 8. The utilization of solution polymerization techniques is preferred. See column 7 line 28+. A lithium compound initiator is suggested at column 8 line 53+. The incorporation of the hydrazid compound is rendered obvious from the disclosure at columns 3 and 4. In view of this disclosure, applicants' instantly claimed invention is rendered prima facie obvious.
